

TREATY RETURNED TO PRESIDENT AFTER FOURTH FAILURE TO ADOPT

No Intimation As To What The President Will Do With Pact Which Senate Rejects.

Threats To Pigeonhole Treaty If President Returns It To Senate For Further Action

Knox Resolution to Declare State of Peace Comes Up Monday.

Joint Resolution Must be Accepted by President Before Effective.

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, March 20.—The treaty of Versailles was returned to President Wilson today by the Senate, after it had failed of ratification last night for a fourth time.

There was no intimation as to what the President would do with the treaty. White House official said the usual procedure would be to send it to the State Department for "burial" in the archives there.

Senator Knox's resolution to declare a state of peace with Germany will take the treaty's place on the Senate floor.

Consideration of it last night was blocked by adjournment until Monday. Republican leaders expect some such measure to be passed.

Suggestion that President Wilson might return the treaty to the Senate brought emphatic statements from majority that it virtually would be pigeonholed in the Foreign Relations Committee.

In any case, the treaty question was regarded as already injected into the presidential campaign. Action by the House will be necessary to consummate a declaration of peace by resolution.

When the Knox resolution was first put forward last December considerable opposition to it became manifest in the House. There is a question whether the two legislative branches could get together on an acceptable draft of the resolution or that the President would accept it if passed. His signature is required to make joint resolutions effective. President Wilson last summer was emphatic in his disapproval of declaring peace by resolution.

On the decisive roll call last night the vote was 49 for ratification to 35 against the opposition numbering in its ranks twenty Democrats who were unwilling to see the treaty go through with the Republican reservations objected to by the President and three Democratic and twelve Republican irreconcilables.

Twenty-one Democrats quit the President's lead and voted for ratification but the defection failed by seven votes of providing the two-thirds requisite the ratify.

The result was regarded in the capital as having put over into the political campaign the long and bitter fight between the chief executive and the Senate majority.

A move to reconsider the vote and try once more to ratify collapsed in its inception.

RESOLUTION TO RESTORE PEACE

The senate was not in session today but when the house met Representative Tinkham, Republican of Massachusetts, offered a joint resolution declaring a state of peace between the United States and Germany. Under the resolution Germany would recognize all rights which the United States might have had under the treaty. Should Germany fail to agree to this the president would be authorized to prohibit resumption of trade relations or extension of loans or credits.

PLANS OF HOME BUILDERS HELD NOT PRACTICAL

Only Modern Homes Located On Tracts at Outskirts of City Proposed.

Local Organization May Be Formed To Build Limited Number of Homes.

Nearly a score of local business men and citizens interested in the progress of the city assembled at the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon to hear the plans of C. L. Schwartz and Mr. Orchard, representing the Industrial Housing Company of New York city, who came to this city with a view to present their methods of meeting the need for houses.

The two men had previously looked over prospective sites for such homes as they proposed to erect, and were fairly familiar with local conditions.

The general plan of the firm which the two men represent was to obtain a tract of 15 to 25 acres on the outskirts of the city and then construct 100 or more modern homes that would have a monthly rental of at least $30 per month. The plan included laying out and paving the streets and sidewalks, extending water, gas and electricity, connecting sewers and finishing the new addition complete ready to turn over the keys to the new owners, who could buy for cash or on payments.

The firm constructs nothing but all modern homes, it was announced, and could not consider a contract for less than 100 homes, or of placing homes upon vacant lots in the up-town district where vacant lots might be obtainable.

A local organization capable of handling a half million dollar proposal also was necessary, the men pointed out. They also said that building material is expected to be higher in price before it is cheaper.

No definite action was taken, but it was the consensus of opinion that the proposal of building such houses so far out was impractical.

GREAT RETARDING DAMS ARE SOON TO BE COMPLETED

(By Associated Press)

Dayton, O., March 20.—Two of the series of five great retarding dams under construction to protect the Miami Valley from floods, will be completed this year, according to engineers employed by the Miami Valley Conservancy District.

When these are completed Miami Valley will have completed the first leg on the greatest flood prevention project ever attempted.

Engineers since the disastrous flood of 1913 have worked incessantly to perfect a system to carry off high waters in the nine counties in the Miami Valley.

The retarding dam and channel improvement system decided upon will cost approximately $28,000,000 when completed. Engineers say it will carry off in safety 40 percent more water than that which flooded the valley in 1913. The system is declared to be "fool proof" and will work automatically forever.

The dams to be completed this year are located at Germantown, Montgomery county, on Twin Creek, and at Lockington, Shelby county, on the Laramie Creek. The estimated cost of these two dams will be $1,600,000.

When completed this fall, the Germantown dam will be 100 feet high and 1200 feet long and engineers say it will be capable of holding back 3,175,000,000 cubic feet of flood water. During a flood equal to that of 1913, water will be discharged from the two open conduits until the water retarded has subsided to normal.

The Germantown dam is by no means the largest of the series under construction. The one at Englewood, on the Stillwater river, which is about 35 percent completed will be slightly more than 120 feet high and will be 4700 feet wide, having a retarded water capacity nearly three times as great as the one at Germantown. The Englewood dam will be 740 feet thick at the bottom, tapering to 30 feet wide at the top. A two way road across the top of the dam is planned on each.

ROSS COUNTY FARM BUREAU TAKES ACTION

The Ross County Farm Bureau, at a meeting this week, took advance steps on a number of important questions dealing with farm business.

Regarding the program outlined for the year, the Chillicothe News says:

"The bureau has gone on record as favoring and will work for the attainment of seven big points in its 1920 program, namely: Better community organization; better live stock co-operative marketing; co-operative buying; good roads, and better telephone service.

"Taken in order the details of the points out lined above are as follows: Township chairman were instructed to arrange for local meetings in their respective districts at intervals during the year to consider and work out community problems. The Farm Bureau will assist in this work.

"Walter Cory, chairman, J. S. Caldwell, F. H. Seeling, Mitchell Murray, D. H. Dresbach were appointed to assist in carrying out the live stock program which consists in improving stock conditions by urging more pure-bred females and only pure-bred sires. In this connection it is planned to make a survey of the country to note present conditions; urge every farm bureau member to keep only pure-bred sires; encourage the breeders in the country to buy from home breeders whenever possible and issue a livestock directory to advertise the stock in the county, thereby assisting prospective buyers in locating what they desire; boost a pig club, making it a pure-bred proposition, and assisting in locating pigs and financing the proposition, at the same time offering prizes to encourage the work.

"With regard to co-operative buying the executive board favors it and will aid communities in the matters of co-operative elevators and co-operative livestock shipping movements. An effort will be made to obtain daily quotations at the farm bureau and the matter of grading wheat during the marketing season will be attended to.

With reference to co-operative buying it is the policy of the farm bureau to encourage dealing through local dealers when only fair profits are made and co-operate with them whenever possible; to buy only these commodities that cannot be obtained locally or cannot be purchased reasonably to hold itself in readiness to go into mercantile business if fair dealing cannot be obtained otherwise.

As to good roads a committee appointed to draft a good roads program presented the following, which was adopted as voicing the sentiment of official body of the Farm Bureau: Re-affirming the position taken by the farm bureau one year ago favoring gravel roads with adequate patrol; opposing the construction of hard surface high priced roads such as brick or concrete in anything but inter-county roads, except in cases where overflow or marshy conditions require special treatment; favoring the use of crushed stone in road making where adjacent gravel is of poor quality; throwing the influence of the farm bureau back of the road projects of special importance."

Thurston, The Famous Magician

Thurston, the famous magician with the same finish and bigness in the new program he presented for eight weeks at Charles B. Dillingham's Globe Theatre, New York, will appear at the Hartman Theatre, Columbus, Ohio, the week of March 22.

It is claimed that Thurston brings the largest company of assistants and the most elaborate scenic, electrical and mechanical equipment ever employed in the presentation of an entertainment of this character. Handsome new stage settings have been provided and they add to the high standard of the entertainment.

Thurston has given much of his time of late investigating Spiritism and confesses that he has met with much success. He includes in his performance this season many of the greatest mysteries of the present day medium, such as the manifestations of Spirits and the materialization of Ghosts. The most prominent of his new program for this year is a Chinese spectacle called "The Mystery of the Water Fountains," in which Thurston's entire company of twenty-six people are introduced.

The Storage Evil

Of late years it has become quite popular for public officials, seeking advancement in the public service or a longer tenure of office, to inaugurate a campaign, mostly on groundless charges, against the cold storage men.

"Every so often" when business affairs get a little out of the ordinary groove some thoughtful politicians launch a new movement against the cold storage men and away we all go, in full accord, inveighing bitterly against the cold storage men, at the behest of some politician who has learned that he can "get away" with that kind of a crusade. Doubtless there are instances when there was merit in the complaint, but the cold storage men are not responsible for all our ills.

As proof of that the Boston Transcript states that the great cotton mills of Boston, Fall River and New Bedford have been able, by storing their products, to compel a market price which has enabled them to make vast improvements in their plants, pay largely increased wages to labor and yet declare the largest stock dividends in their history, during the first quarter of 1920.

What is true with regard to the cotton mills in that section is generally understood to exist in almost every line of industrial activity.

Goods which the people need are manufactured in abundance and then held, until the "prices get right." In other words it is generally accepted as true that the present shortage is largely manufactured by the manufacturers through the medium of trade organizations and storage facilities. The aim is to get just as much as they can while the "getting is good."

The vast storehouses which have become, it seems, so necessary a part of our manufacturing plants need a little investigating along with the cold storage plants.

It might be unpopular unless a crusade, once launched, was carried to completion and politicians are not noted for that.

The Court House Lawn

At the present time the lawn about the court house seems to have been completely destroyed. It is now nothing but an expanse of mud tracked with numberless footprints.

Of course this is a time of the year when lawns look their very worst and when it seems impossible for the beautiful smooth green lawns of spring and summer to ever emerge from the present forbidding looking surface.

Doubtless if the lawn on the court house square is properly cared for and properly guarded it will come to life again in all its former beauty. But that is the cause for fear. Will it be? Will our officials see to it that this beauty spot of the city is revived and protected?

Of late years there has grown up a habit among business men, whether bound for the court house or on beyond the temple of justice, to "cut across lots." In those hurry up times we have been passing through, with so many many important and urgent affairs to attend to, we have all been compelled to make every step count and have not had the time to go to the broad stone walk when it was so easy to cut across the yard.

That practice of walking across the court house lawn has now become a fixed habit. The only way to prevent ruin of the grounds and maintaining an eye sore is to put in more walks running out to the corners of the square and then keep folks off the grass.

Washington can't afford to have the court house lawn a mud hole in the winter and a bare, hard patch in the summer.

It has been a place of beauty. It should be restored and maintained as such, especially as it is so easy to do.

No Labor Party

One by one the various labor organizations are declaring against the formation of a strictly labor party.

The leaders and the thinking men of the labor organizations have not failed to realize that a labor party would only result in the loss of political power. The labor element, no matter how honestly and patriotically led, cannot hope, as a separate political party, to become a majority party even with two other parties in the field contending for prestige.

As a free power, bound to no political party, either one of its own creation or one of the larger of the old organizations, labor can exert a tremendous influence at the polls in extending or withholding approval of the old parties, according as their platforms decree.

There is no question that American labor, properly directed and honestly intentioned is, and can remain, a power in the politics of the nation, but not as an independent political organization.

Labor should take its place along with the other elements of the great middle classes of the republic and vote for the majority good. Any political organization of laboring men would be narrow and selfish and born to failure.

There is but one way for labor to increase its political power and that is by independent, conscientious voting, avoiding the yoke of all parties and guarding against selfishness.

POETRY FOR TODAY

FISHIN'

It may be weeks before they come,
But I'm goin' fishin' now,
Far down the land where the sun-
beams hum
And the spring dreams deck the brow,
I'm goin' to fish for the elfin fish
On the shores of the silver sea—
And if only my heart could have its wish
I would take the world with me.

You smile at the thought of fishin' when
There are ice and snow about,
And the blizzard blows and it sleets
and snows
And the icy breezes shout,
But it's easy to fish in sunny streams
No matter how cold the wather
If you know the way to the land of dreams
And your heart is like a feather.

For in spite of the weeks and months and days
Before the rivers are ready,
You can stand on the bank while your bob-cork plays
And the fish bite swift and steady—
The old gold fish and the silver fish
And the fish with the starry eyes
That float in the streams of the sunny
dreams
That are under the fairy skies.

The second of the series of sermons on the book of Jonah will be preached Sunday morning. The Book of Jonah is the Gospel of the Old Testament and the aim of these sermons is to adjust its message to our time. The Book of Jonah is perhaps the most assailed books of the Old Testament. The "A Fish Story" has been a stumbling block to many Bible readers. The modern approach to the subject of Bible study has reduced these difficulties to a minimum. All persons interested in questions of this nature are invited to attend these services.

PAINT IS ALMOST HUMAN

The recent death of Mr. Houston Lowe, President of the Lowe Brothers Co., of Dayton, Ohio, marks the passing of one of the country's pioneers in the paint and varnish industry.

Mr. Lowe, who was 70 years of age, engaged with his brother in the paint business 50 years ago, and was responsible to a great degree for the rapid development of ready-mixed paint for all purposes.

Mr. Lowe was the first man to advocate to American chemists and paint makers that when paint is applied to a surface it goes through a "breathing process." Although his statement was discounted at that time, subsequent experiments have proven it true.

Paint protects a surface by forming over it a covering which closely resembles the human skin. It is very delicate, yet is tough and elastic, protecting the pores of the surface against the damaging action of the elements. During the drying process, the paint absorbs oxygen from the air and gives off a small quantity of carbon dioxide, the same as when we breathe.

The fact that Mr. Lowe discovered this action in the early days of the paint industry, indicates with what thoroughness he studied the situation, and also accounts to this success in the business. He set up the "Little Blue Flag" for the company's trademark and always insisted that every batch of paint be made to meet the high standard symbolized by this trademark.

His son, Mr. John G. Lowe, has now succeeded him as president, and the same policy of quality will be continued throughout the future.

ASKS A RECEIVER FOR J. A. LONG & CO.

Alleging that the defendant has "fraudulently, corruptly and illegally caused books of said corporation to be altered," M. P. Knudsen, manager of the Sunlight Creameries in this city has filed action in the common pleas court of Darke county asking that a receiver be appointed for the J. A. The plaintiff, former manager of the plant, brings the action as a stockholder, charging that for the past several months the company has been grossly mismanaged and has caused heavy loss to stockholders.

Robert R. Nevin, Dayton, Ohio, and Marion Murphy, T. A. Billingsley and John F. Maher, of Greenville, are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

HEAVY DAMAGE TO LIGHT HOME

Damage estimated at hundreds of dollars was the result of a fire at the E. J. Light residence on Circle Ave. Saturday afternoon shortly after two o'clock. A large portion of the roof of the large brick residence was burned by the flames fanned by a stiff breeze. The fire department succeeded in stopping the flames before they reached the interior of the house. Damage from water will also be heavy.

The fire originated when sparks from the chimney flues, which were being burned out dropped on the roof.

POLAND AGAIN REUNITED TO SEA CEREMONIES HELD

(By Associated Press)

Warsaw—(By Mail)—Tossing of a wedding ring into the ocean marked ceremonies recently held at Puck, or Putzig, to celebrate the reuniting of Poland to the sea an event of which all of Poland had dreamed for many years. Polish troops in their northward march on their own soil, as provided under the Treaty of Versailles, had reached the coastline of the Baltic and begun to make them selves at home in the stretch of land, northwest of Danzig. This brought Poland to salt water again, after an absence of 148 years.

While Polish ships are to have use of wharves at Danzig which is to be a free port under the League of Nations, the new republic is desirous of a port which it may call its very own, and it is with this end in view that the Polish government has settled upon Puck, as it is spelled in Polish, as a site of the port where in the future Poland may have absolutely free commercial access to the sea under jurisdiction of its own officials.

It was at the seaside near Puck where formal exercises marking Poland's reunion to the sea were celebrated the other day and it was a great event. Thousands from all over Poland assembled in holiday attire to commemorate the historical occurrence, and also the recovery of Polish land which went to Prussia after Poland's first dismemberment by the three conquerors, Prussia, Russia and Austria in 1772.

FALLS INTO WHEEL; KILLED Lancaster, March 20—Frank Berg, aged 33, living east of Bremen, was killed when he fell into the fly wheel of a gas engine.

FRANCE AROUSED OVER DECREASE OF BIRTH RATE

(By Associated Press.)

Paris—(By Mail)—France is at last arousing itself to the danger of dying out. The privately conducted uphill fight for a higher birthrate has been taken over by the government through the creation of a Higher Council of Natality. This council of thirty appointed by J. L. Breton, Minister of Hygiene, was asked to act immediately. Mr. Breton, father of five children, is known as a strong friend of large families. Three others of the new cabinet are advocates of measures to increase the French birthrate.

War cost France roughly 1,500,000 lives. A low birthrate during the war years, cost France 1,272,735 loss of populations.

The plainest sorts of truth are told the French about the decreasing birthrate. The National Alliance and government officials hold that a family should have three or more children. To encourage such families government allowances of 60 to 200 francs a year are granted for each child after the second under 13 years. The Alliance asks also for legislation to provide for the construction of cheap attractive homes available only to large families, establishment of "supersalaries" in industries to heads of such families, preference in government employment, the plural vote, giving the father as many votes as there are persons in the family, and real war, on "birth control," known here as Neo Malthusianism.

COTTON TRADE IS SALVATION OF LANCASHIRE

(By Associated Press)

Manchester, Eng., March 13.—Lancashire's entire cotton trade, at a recent conference here to urge upon the government the importance of increasing the supply of raw cotton within the British empire, heard Lord Derby, president of the British Cotton Growing Association, declare that failure of the government to preserve the industry would "turn Lancashire into a howling wilderness."

Sir Herbert Dixon, formerly president of the Cotton Control Board during the war, said the United States could not seriously increase its growth of cotton, and that the demands of the United States for cotton for its own use were becoming greater. It would be a mortal blow to Lancashire, to Great Britain and the United States as well, he said, if prices continued to soar.

Edwin Stockton, president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, presented a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, expressing appreciation of the cotton employers' decision to contribute a levy of sixpence per bale toward the cost of expanding the cotton fields and asking the government to make financial provision which would in combination with the money subscribed in the industry, give effect to the proposals of the Empire Cotton Committee to promote cotton growing within the Empire.

Vice President Shute of the Liverpool Cotton Association said he believed a well thought out project involving the purchase of land for the cultivation of cotton could be made an absolutely sound proposition.

SAYS AMERICANS MUST CONFORM TO REQUIREMENTS

Santiago, Chile. (By Mail)—Chilean merchants complain of delays in delivery of goods ordered from the United States and that in some cases their orders are not filled by North American manufacturers, because the United States does not use the metrical system of measures.

Some Chileans declare that, instead of consulting the wishes and peculiarities of the Chilean market, the American seems inclined to sell only what he has to offer and to impose conditions.

As evidence of this situation the Chileans cite the case of a firm of wholesale dealers who placed in the United States a large order for light summer wear textiles which were needed here in December. They paid 30 percent on account and after awaiting shipment were advised that it could not be made before the end of January. This cost that firm its summer trade. The Chileans say that no explanations can condone that.

The newspaper paper business is declared to have been completely taken away from the United States by Norwegians competitors because the American cannot guarantee deliveries nor prices.

big order for material of various qualities and dimensions and two months later received advises that the material could not be shipped as the manufacturers could deliver goods only to approximate metrical measurements.

There is some complaint that there seems to be no system in the North American export business and that the sellers have lost sight of the principal that the buyer is not forced to buy unless he chooses, that he has opportunity for choice and will buy where he obtains satisfaction in quality, delivery and credits.

Chile imports about $150,000,000 worth of goods annually and, now that the nitrate export trade is booming, there is an active market here for machinery for new enterprises, steel and iron for public works and railroads, iron for private industry, petroleum, textiles, sugar and automobiles.

BRAZIL IMMUNE FROM THE FLU

(By Associated Press)

Rio De Janeiro.—(By Mail)—Thus far Brazil has been immune from the epidemic of influenza that visited North America. Health authorities declare there is no case of the disease in this city now but they are making preparations to cope with it should it appear. Rigid quarantine is being maintained against ships coming from infected ports and several trans-Atlantic liners having influenza cases aboard has been quarantined. School buildings are being transformed into hospitals where patients will be isolated and every effort will be made to stamp out the disease in its beginning.

Plenty of Milk Keeps Kiddies Well

That certain bacteria are developed in Milk which fight disease germs, is proven by investigators.

In a leading newspaper is noticed this: "In a family of seven two children did not drink milk. The other three used it liberally. The children not using milk were first to take influenza; they were long and seriously ill. The other three had light attacks and in ten days were in normal health."

Milk, of course, contains no curative properties, but it feeds the system and fits it to fight off the disease germs.

FISH AND GAME BANQUET SURPASSES ALL OTHERS

Annual Event, Held at Memorial Hall Friday Night, Draws Fully 1,000 Members.

BANQUET DELICIOUS FAULTLESSLY SERVED

Lively Music By Parker's Orchestra and Pictures of Wild Life Please.

Committees And Loyal Helpers Warmly Praised For Unqualified Success.

The greatest Fish and Game Protective Association banquet ever held in Ohio was that of the Fayette County Association held at Memorial Hall, Friday night, and attended by fully 1,000 of the more than 1300 members of the association, the monster crowd being handled with remarkably little confusion, and the banquet proving one of the most enjoyable of the series.

Not only did the annual event—the fame of which has spread throughout the state—draw heavily from the old members, but scores of new members were enrolled during the evening, including several from adjoining counties.

For day the various committees, headed by J. E. McLean, had been active in preparing for the big event, and when the crowds arrived they found that, considering the numbers present and the general accommodations, that everything had been so carefully arranged that barring a wait at the door for some of the late arrivals, everything moved off like clock-work.

The second floor of memorial hall was devoted to displaying the moving pictures of the State Fish and Game Department and these wonderful pictures proved highly educational and entertaining.

The third floor was prepared for the banquet, with a series of long tables, attractively arranged with snowy coverings and large bouquets of red, pink and white carnations which added much to the inviting appearance of the tables.

Festoons of the national colors formed the chief decorations, and were most effectively arranged by the artists in charge of this part of the work.

The kitchen was a very busy place, and the appetizing odor of fish and the "trimmings" filled the air. Long lines of coatless waiters, including men from all walks of life and all parts of the city and county, were ready for the diners when they reached the attractive dining hall.

Parker's Orchestra, with Parker himself in charge of his best musicians, furnished the entrancing music and added zest to the big feast. From start to finish their lively airs drew storms of applause, and the solo work of Parker was an added treat which took the house by storm time after time. It was the consensus of opinion that the committee in charge of the music had made the right selection, and Parker's orchestra will be welcomed back another year, if obtainable.

The banquet itself was most delicious, with a liberal helping of fresh white fish, browned to a turn, mashed potatoes, baked beans, head lettuce with dressing, radishes, celery, Parker House rolls, butter, fig pudding and hot coffee.

So well were the arrangements made that the waiters, under supervision of table captains, moved about rapidly and orderly, with the result that all were served in an amazingly short time.

The business man and farmer sat side by side, or worked together without coats to serve the diners. There were no class lines every man was every other man's equal as the most thoroughly democratic and representative body of men in Fayette county mingled together during the evening. This is the success of the wonderful organization.

When the diners had finished the repast, Master of Ceremonies, Nolan Hathaway, who with President Orme Brown and other officers of the association, sat at the head of the center table, with a few invited guests, made a brief speech of welcome and related a few mirth provoking jokes, after which he called Mr. J. W. Stuber to the floor. Mr. Stuber is first assistant of the Fish and Game Department and attended the big feast last year. Incidentally he is the crack rifle shot of the state.

Mr. Stuber unhesitatingly declared that the banquet was by far greater than that held by any other association of its kind in Ohio, and that Fayette countians should feel a just pride in such a wonderful organization. He declared that in Cleveland alone could anything like the local organization be found. He further declared that wherever Chief Warden Baxter and himself went in Ohio they always pointed to the Fayette county organization as the best in Ohio.

Mr. Stuber conveyed the regards of Gen. Speaks and Mr. Baxter, who could not be present.

Mr. J. F. Atwood, Editor of the Hunter, Trader and Trapper, and President of the League of Ohio Sportsmen was next called to the floor, and he also, praised the Fayette County Organization and said it was by far the largest banquet of its kind he had ever attended. He urged that the good work of the association be continued. He also urged the local association to send a large delegation to the meeting of Sportsmen to be held in Columbus during May.

The hall was then cleared to make ready for the second crowd of diners, and in just 21 minutes from the time the first diners left the hall the thousands of dishes had been washed and tables reset for the second crowd. Five hundred and fifty were fed at the first tables and about four hundred and fifty at the second.

The large crowd that had witnessed the pictures was eager to go "fishing" and fell to with an eagerness born of genuine appetite, while the first diners went to the second floor and saw the pictures.

In addition to Messrs. Struber and Atwood speaking to the second group Attorney C. A. Reid made a brief address, pointing to the general good that came from such gatherings of men in all walks of life, that the organization measured up to the true ideals of Americanism, and did much to bring out the best in all concerned.

Master of Ceremonies announced that inasmuch as the organization had grown to such proportions that he believed it should construct a huge pavilion or coliseum in which to hold the annual banquets, as well as to hold corn shows, chicken shows and dances and public assemblies generally. His plan met with hearty approval, and this may be worked out at a later date.

After the second showing of the pictures and the second group had dined the majority of the members departed at a much earlier hour than usual because of the early hour at which the banquet started.

The system of checking hats and coats proved very effective, and very little confusion resulted from the method employed, and considering the limited quarters for handling such numbers, the system worked perfectly throughout the evening.

Pictures taken under direction of the State Fish and Game department besides, teaching the lesson of wild game preservation were of a decided interest to Fayette sportsmen and many scenes of game bagging and fishing haunts thrilled the ardent adherents of Nimrod.

The films, under the supervision of the State Department are being shown all over the state at gatherings of this nature.

The general committee in charge was composed of J. E. McLean, chairman; Ed Fite, Nolan Hathaway, Gen. Sunkle, Clarence Baer, Chas. Allen, John H. Culhan, Grant Coffman, H. C. Allen and Hays Dill, who were assisted loyally by a large number of members who labored tirelessly in their respective departments.

During the evening the membership was greatly increased by dozens of new members, so that at the present time the membership stands at near the 1400 mark.

Among the visitors were City Editor A. K. Chenoweth, of the Madison County Press, and Professor R. H. Thomson, of London, O., who were greatly surprised at the magnitude of the affair and obtained some suggestions to present to their home county organization, which numbers some 500 members.

A Hundred Dollars Or a Hundred Thousand

There is a mistaken notion on the part of many that an investment house such as ours sells its securities only to large buyers, and that a high rate of interest can only be had by those who invest large amounts of money.

Keen business men are careful in buying their investments. They buy the kind of stocks and bonds that we handle because they want their money to earn the largest income that can be obtained without sacrificing safety.

Excellent securities with unquestioned safety and with a ready market can now be had yielding 7 per cent or better.

Such a security is the Mead Fibre issue. The income from this stock is more than 7 percent. It is not subject to local taxes.

Therefore it earns more than twice the net yield of an investment paying 3 percent interest that must be returned for tax.

We believe that the man with a hundred dollars to invest is as justly entitled to 7 percent net on his money as the man with a million; and if you have available funds which are now in a form that makes them subject to local taxes, we suggest that you invest them in a non-taxable issue before April 11 which is the date on which your return must be made.

We will gladly furnish you with all of the details relative to this or any other stocks or bonds. Let us suggest to you how the earning power of your money can be greatly increased by wise selection of investments.

BLOOMINGBURG'S NEW ERA PROGRAM

The New Educational Program held in the Bloomingburg Presbyterian church, proved to be of unusual interest and was conceded to be the best of its kind ever held there.

The morning and afternoon program consisted in the study of "The Women of the Orient." Entertaining and illuminating descriptions were given by Mrs. C. Dickey on "The Home Case."

Mrs. Howard Jefferson on "Women as Wage Workers," and Rev. D. G. Kearns Preston on "The Education of Women." Mrs. Kearns-Preston described the women of the Orient engaged in business, the professions and social and religious life. This excellent presentation was accompanied by costumed representations of Oriental women. Mrs. E. C. Taylor closed a very vivid description of the organized and cooperative work of women, by giving an impressive rendering of "The Scum O' the Earth."

Mrs. Kinkaid closed the discussion with a strong and earnest appeal for leadership, assisted by a number of ladies representing the efforts and needs of the women of foreign lands.

At noon, the congregation and invited guests spent a very delightful social hour during which a generous and enjoyable luncheon was served.

The evening program drew a full house. All present were delighted with the work of the committee, consisting of Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Mrs. W. Q. Kinkaid, Mrs. D. A. Kearns-Preston, and Mrs. Maude Howland.

A very beautiful Japanese pageant, participated in by twenty children in Japanese costume, enacted a striking representation of Japanese social life. Mrs. Jefferson's class of young ladies formed the center of attraction, adorned in varied shades of Japanese costumes they presented a harmonious and pleasing effect, representing in a marked manner, the Oriental type.

Their several musical renderings were among the special features of the program, and the audience manifested their high appreciation of their part of the program.

Among the most enjoyable features of the evening were the duets by the little Misses Eloise and Virginia Whiteside, who in pleasing unaffectedness and naturalness, captivated the entire audience.

The final number consisted of a playette entitled "Tired of Missions" presenting the need for missionaries in different lands, as an object lesson to those at home, the appeal of which, should awaken a zeal for missions in the hearts of the disinterested.

Mrs. E. L. Taylor, Chairman of the Educational committee of the congregation had charge of the program and directed the drills. The success of the program was due chiefly to her efficiency, as an instructor of wide experience and recognized ability, in expression.

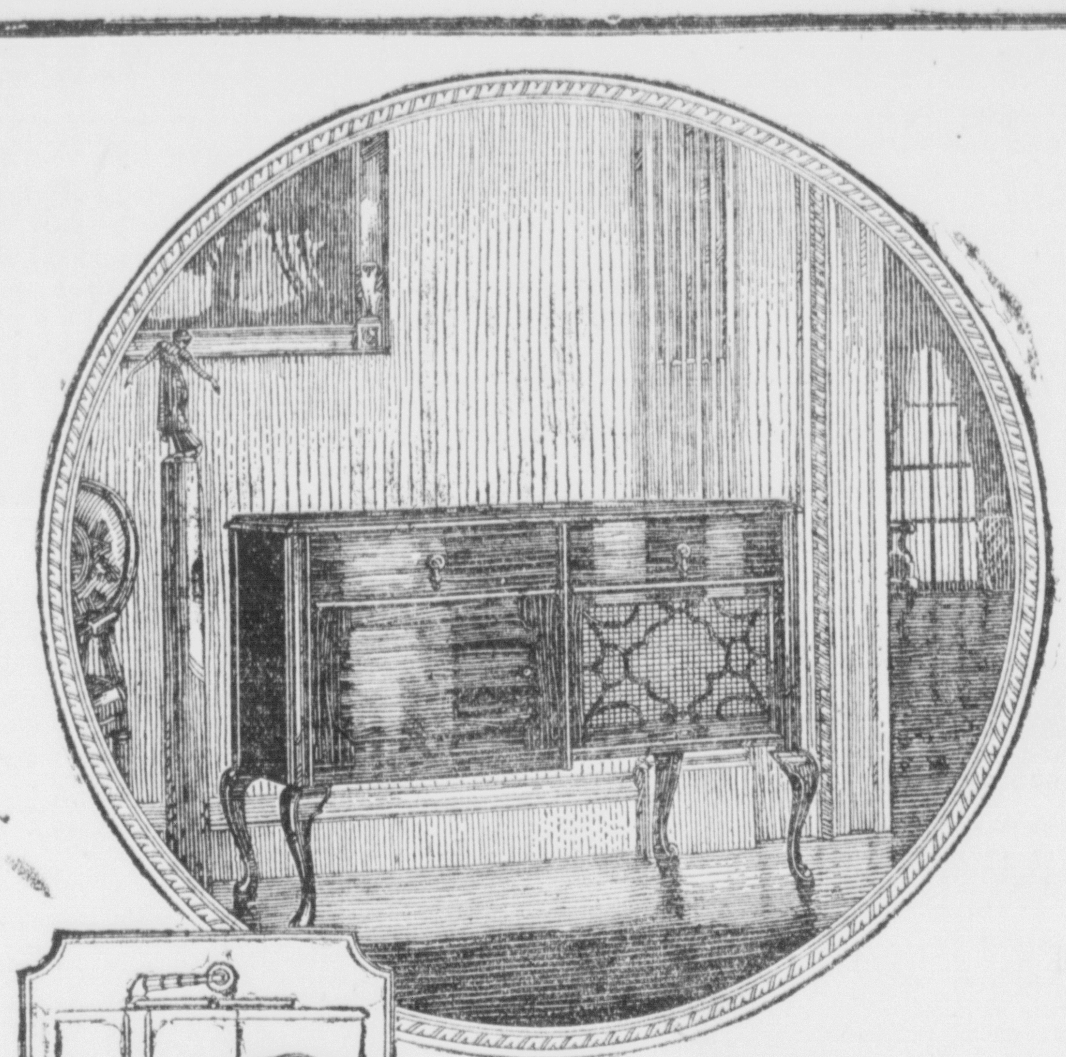

MAKING HEADWAY ON NEW PIPING

Rapid headway is being made on the laying of lead pipe connections for water service, in the up-town streets which soon are to be re-surfaced with asphalt.

Several gangs of men are busy tearing up the streets, excavating and replacing the old piping with lead pipe.

Indications are that within the next ten days virtually all of the work will be done, and the streets will be ready for the improvement.

Cheney Violin Resonator

Suspended free from the cabinet walls so that it vibrates as tones pass through it, the Cheney Violin Resonator adds rich quality to Cheney Tones.

Further, it imparts to The Cheney that rare quality of the violin: "THE LONGER YOU PLAY IT, THE SWEETER IT GROWS."

SOPHOMORES OFFER SPRING CARNIVAL

Extensive preparations are being made by the Sophomore class of Washington High School for the spring entertainment which the class will give on Friday evening, March 26.

Featuring the entertainment will be a minstrel given by the Boys Glee Club in the auditorium. The latter part of the show will be in the form of a carnival.

In the basement of the high school, transformations will take place and one secluded corner will be devoted to the tea room; another spot will be the scene of the fish pond for the little folks and there will also be a fortune telling booth along with the many other amusements that will follow the minstrel.
